In the review by Tidau et al. (2021) 'Marine artificial light at night: An empirical and technical guide', Figure 1 summarises the literature on marine artificial light at night (ALAN). The phylogenetic classification of studies wrongly stated the two classes 'Invertebrate' and 'Other invertebrate' when it should be a single class 'other invertebrates'.

The classification was corrected in the accompanied csv file (Fig1_Marine_ALAN_studies.csv) and the corrected figure is below. The legend is unchanged.

This error does not affect the conclusions of the review.
