VOLUME 2
PREFACE TO THE GAZETTEER

This gazetteer needs to be read in conjunction with volume 1. Comparisons with other monuments within the region are not given within this gazetteer but are referred to extensively in the main body of the text. The size of the monument and the materials from which it is made are not listed. This is deliberate as many monuments are impossible to measure accurately due to their location and while the materials used in monument manufacture are discussed in chapter 2 part 4, this does not set out to identify specific materials in specific monuments.

Explanation of the headings.

Parish – The parishes of the region are clearly identified and the name given is that of the actual village or, in the case of Exeter and other town that have more than one Anglican church in their boundaries, the dedication of the individual church.

Name – this is the principal name recorded in the inscription. In the case of dynastic family monuments, it is the first name given in the inscription although that might be to someone who died many years before the monument was erected.

Date – this is the latest date on the main body of the inscription that formed part of the original lettering. Some monuments clearly display lettering and dates that were applied after the monument was first erected and subsidiary inscription panels also often include later dates.

Status – this refers to the social status of the person whose name appears first on the inscription.

Position of the monument in the church – only generic areas are given.

Language used for the inscription – this is recorded as either English or Latin and where both occur in the same inscription, this is also recorded.

Eulogizing Verse – if a eulogizing verse has been included in the inscription it is noted but only if the language is English. No attempt has been made to identify Latin eulogizing verses.
Artist – generally the artist is unknown but where the monument is actually signed or traditionally ascribed to an artist, the name is given without other explanations. Monuments that are attributed have that attribution in brackets after the name of the artists believed to have been responsible for the monument. For details on attribution criteria see page 176.

Brief Biographical Data – much of this data has come directly from the inscription and those sources cited in the footnotes to the entry.

Title LADY

Eulogizing Verse – Yes/No NO

Brief Biographical Data

She was the daughter of Robert Rolle of Heanton Sackville, a village lying between Huish and Merton just off the modern main Tavistock to Barnstaple road. Her husband was Sir Alexander Carew who was beheaded on Tower Hill 23rd December 1644.

The will of Jane Carew is dated 18 November in the thirtieth year of the reign of our Soveriegn Lord Charles the second. Allowing for the discrepancy in calendar dates the reign is calculated from 1649. An online data-base states that she and her husband had one child, John Carew, Bart. However, her will names her sons Thomas Carew, Richard Carew, daughter Bridy, and grandchildren Rachell Carew, William, Alexander and Joan Pendarves, it is not until page three of her will that reference is made to Sir John Carew. It seems reasonable to assume that she might have remarried after the execution of Sir Alexander although the will describes her as “widdow” There is no mention of a monument in the will. It appears that this is only a fragment of the sumptuous monument mentioned by Gilbert that was formerly over the altar.

She was the daughter of John Lord Crew of Northamptonshire and died at Cothele 10 November 1674 aged 49. She had 10 children by her husband Edward Montagu whom she married aged 17 on 7 November 1642 at St Margaret’s Westminster. He served as a colonel under Cromwell but is best known as general-at-sea. He held other offices of state and was rewarded with a peerage. He helped to bring about the Restoration and was created first earl of Sandwich. He died 28 May 1672 in the battle of Sole Bay. After his death she decided to live close to her third daughter Anne, who had just married Sir Richard Edgcumbe of Cotehele.

Brief Biographical Data
He became the heir of the family estates on the death of his cousin Richard Pendarves and was knighted by Queen Anne. He became MP for St Ives and married Penelope, daughter of Sidney Godolphin. He died childless aged 37. He is said to have been the owner of a prosperous copper mine at South Roskear and to have had a coffin made for himself from the first copper raised from the mine. The 1660 Poll Tax refers to a William Pendarves of Roskrow in St Gluvias and it is reasonable to assume that this might have been his grandfather. Sir William’s father Thomas was rector of St Mawgan and St Columb and his mother was Grace, daughter of Robert Hoblyn of Nanswiden. He married Grace, daughter of Sidney Godolphin.

The design of the monument is described by Gilbert as extremely chaste and the sculpture soft and elegant. It bears a beautiful bust of the deceased knight, said by those who knew him, to be a correct likeness.

Polsue writes that the manor of Glynn had belonged to the Glynn family for many generations. From the inscription it is clear that those members of the family commemorated on the monument all married within their social class. The first William Glynn married the daughter of Arthur Harris of Haine, one of their descendents was Christopher Harris to whom a large Baroque monument was erected at Stowford. The Son, Nicholas Glynn married on of the coheirs of Antony Dennys of Orleigh Court near Buckland Brewer in north Devon. Samuel Foot of Tiverton, father in law Dennys Glynn, has a monument there dated 1691. Dennis Glynn erected the family monument and was buried 14 April 1705. He married firstly, Elizabeth Foote who died in 1692 and secondly Bridget, daughter of Edmund Hoblyn of Bodmin, who died 10 November 1695.

Little is known of the Specott family but they appear to have been at least Gentlemen or Esquires. Polsue records that Penheale was an ancient manor that came to the Specott family with John Specott and his son Paul, as first named on the monument. He married Elizabeth daughter of Peter Edgcumbe, related to the Edgcumbe’s of Mount Edgcumbe. The John Specott who died in 1705 was married to Essex Robartes, daughter of John Robartes, first Earl Radnor and her monument exists at Lanhydrock. Gilbert states that the monument commemorates Paul Specott, 1644, John Specott, 1677 and his wife Honor 1692. The inscription is almost obliterated thus making accurate transcripts impossible.

Sir Bevill Grenville was born on 23 March 1596 at Great Brinn, Withiel, Cornwall. He was educated at Exeter College Oxford where his tutor was Dr Prideaux, presumably of the Prideaux family of Padstow. Sir Bevill married Grace Smith, daughter of Sir George Smith of Exeter and by her had seven children, three sons and four daughters. Sir Bevill sided with the King in the Civil War. He was mortally wounded at the battle of Lansdown near Bath on 5th July 1643 and buried in the family vault at Kilkhampton on 26th July 1643. His Wife, Lady Grace died four years later. The monument was erected by his grandson, the Right Hon. George, Lord Lansdown, treasurer to the household of Queen Anne in 1714. His daughter Bridget, born January 13 1629/30 married first Sir Simon Leach of Cadeleigh and secondly Sir Thomas Higgon. Elizabeth Grenville married Peter Prideaux November 17 1645, Sir Bevill’s son John, his heir, died at the battle of Newberry.

The second monument was erected in Bath Abbey. The maker is unknown but it may have been locally made or a metropolitan product.

Brief Biographical Data
Philip Piper was the son of Sir Hugh Piper, married Mary the daughter of Humphrey Gaer Esq. of Plymouth and had two sons, Hugh and Granville. Granville died in Bath unmarried, aged 38. No biographical details are currently available on Richard Wise.

From the wording of the inscriptions it appears that these two individuals might have constituted a single sex couple. The putti on the monument in Bath Abbey bear a strong resemblance to London made examples, especially those seen on the monument at Redgrave, Suffolk, to Lord Justice Holt by Thomas Green of Camberwell.

CS Gilbert An Historical Survey of the County of Cornwall. 1817 Plymouth Dock Vol. 2 p 503
This is the only known example in the peninsular counties of two sculpted monuments erected to the same person.

Polsue writes. In the (north aisle) stands the costly and elegant monument of the inseparable friends Glanville Pyper and Richard Wise. The magnificent cenotaph reaches from the floor to the ceiling, and is supported by colonnades of polished marble pillars. The inscription is on a projecting oval tablet between the figures of Fortitude and Wisdom; the former grasping a real sword, the latter in a state of serenity with a serpent entwining the left arm. These figures stand under arches supported by the first colonnade; and above are figures of Faith, Hope and Charity. The second colonnade supports an elaborately sculptured cornice on which stand busts of the deceased friends in municipal robes, separated by a vase on which is sculpted a representation of the Resurrection.

Gilbert also comments on the monuments at Launceston and say that the walls of the church are rendered impressively grand by a display of elaborate funeral monuments ............ He also says that the Pipers are one of many respectable families who lived in the town. The actual monument is described as being “stately...; and “composed of rich marble and elegant sculpture”.

Brief Biographical Data
William Cotton married Elizabeth Render and they were married for 49 years. They had a total of 8 children, 3 boys and 5 girls. He was Lord of the Manor of Boscastle and also held the office of Precentor at Exeter Cathedral. This is alluded to on the shields in the apron panel where beneath the three shields to his sons, inscribed very faintly is the word 3 DIATRITE and beneath the five shields to his draughts is the word 5 DIAPENTE. Between the two groups is the word 8 DIAPASON and beneath the whole IN PERFECT CONCORD MAY THEY STILL AGREE / WHOSE VERY NUMBERS TEACH THEM HARMONY.

That each of the children is represented by a shield of arms is a social status statement, especially for the girls as it indicated that families into which they married.

He was born on July 8th 1650 and died 5th November 1680. The extensive family tree quoted by Polsue p 397 suggests that his father might have been John Trefusis who married Elizabeth the daughter of Sir Francis Drake, Baronet of Buckland. If this is the case, Francis married Bridget the daughter of Samuel Rolle of Heanton and had 4 children, Francis, Samuel, Bridget and Elizabeth. Samuel married Margaret, daughter and co-heir of James Craggs one of the Secretaries of State for Scotland.

Brief Biographical Data

The inscription records that he was master of the Godfrey Gally and was killed in an engagement with a French privateer off Lands End on 4th September 1710. He was 53 years old. He was buried in Paul on 28th September 1710 and it appears that he was not an officer of the Royal Navy but a privateer. His will is dated 2 November 1708 and describes him as a mariner of the parish of St Mary Rotherhithe, that his wife was Mary and that they had four children viz. Andrew, Nicholas, John and Mary. Elton was issued with no less than four Letters of Marque by the Admiralty in 1692, 1702, 1707 and 1710, the last two Letters referring to the Godfrey Gally, a ship of about 350 tons carrying 30 guns and with a crew of 75. This ship was probably named after Peter Godfrey the main financial backer in the privateering enterprise. Between 1692 and 1698 Elton was responsible for capturing 7 prize ships. No details of the action in which he died have surfaced.

He was related to Earl Sidney Godolphin, Chief Minister to Queen Anne. William married Elizabeth daughter of Thomas Darell of Trewarne and widow of John Nicholls, eldest son of William Nicholls of Trerice who was the heir of William Godolphin who erected the monument in 1697.

It must be assumed that this William Godolphin is related to Sir William Godolphin, whose father John was “Captain of Scilly”. Sir William was Ambassador to Madrid. A friend of John Locke, he was educated at Westminster and Oxford but achieved his MA by nomination of the Crown. He was Secretary to Lord Arlington and went to Madrid with the Earl of Sandwich. For such an important monument almost nothing is known of Edward Eliot. His wife Elizabeth was a sister of James Craggs, one of the Secretaries of State for Scotland who died in 1721. Craggs has a famous monument is Westminster abbey by G B Guelfi. His son John became 1st Earl of St Germans. The monument was moved to its present location in the 1870’s. Gilbert writes of the monument that it is .....; the most magnificent that the whole county produces stands at the east end of the south aisle. This monument was erected by the famous Rysbrack, who is said to have copied the design partly from the monument to John Sheffield, Duke of Buckingham in Westminster Abbey.

Brief Biographical Data
This monument has 23 effigies in three tiers plus two at the bottom. An enigmatic monument, the inscription is missing so that accurate details are unavailable. Almost certainly commemorated is Thomas Hele, sheriff of Devon 1600-1601 and who was buried 2 January 1613. His figure could be the male effigy on the top left of the monument. His wife Julian was the daughter of John Smith of Exeter. In the middle tier is the effigy of Thomas Hele of Flete who died 7 November 1624 and his wife Bridget, daughter of Sir enry Chamernowne of Modbury. The reclining effigy is that to Sir Thomas Hele, eldest son of Thomas Hele and his wife Bridget. Sir Thomas was created baronet 28 May 1627, sheriff and MP for Okehampton in 1640 and was buried 16 November 1670. His two wives were Penelope, daughter of Emorbe Johnson of Wigborough whom he married in November 1629. The second wife was Elizabeth, daughter of ....... Elwes. The two sons of Sir Thomas kneel at a pray desk at the front of the arrangement and commemorate Thomas, whose mother Penelope died giving birth and Samuel who beame the second baronet. Both these sons died childless and the title came to Henry, the last male of the family and fourth son of Sir Thomas who died in 1677.

His house was at Westaway. His wife was Margaret Bowchier, daughter of Philip Bowchier, civil war period incumbent of the parish. Westaway house was owned by Sir John Chichester of Youlston who sold a 1000 year lease on the property to Lethbridge and either Christopher the elder or his son Christopher the younger rebuilt the house in the first half of the eighteenth century. He erected the monument in his own lifetime and left an endowment of 10 shillings yearly for the upkeep of the monument and that portion of the roof immediately over it.

In 1726 an inventory of the church possessions was made and a silver salver is recorded bearing the words EXODUC CHRISTOPHER LETHBRIDGE AMIGER 1713. Christopher Lethbridge was also one of a number of local men who in 1696 rebuilt the church tower after the original had been pulled down in the civil war.
